die-casting machines LK is the solution partner for die casting regardless of the material selection in aluminum, magnesium, zinc or copper alloy. LK focuses on all conventional die casting as well as the latest high vacuum casting, squeeze casting, automation technology for engine block, automotive structural part and etc.

LK Global Website

LK offers a highly automated cell providing a total solution to produce the highest quality die-casting products. The production of aluminum alloy structural components on LK die-casting machines achieves the high vacuum die-casting resulting in less porosity and reduced heat treatment providing an advantage to the automotive industry.
