The Cat Who Cried For Help was written in 1997 so the specific medications used in his case studies (or even his theories) may be less relevant at this point in time. It could be a classic if it was updated with a new preface or notes after each chapter to explain how the drug facilitators have or have not changed over the years.

Don't punish a cat for meowing. Hitting, shouting, and spraying cats with water rarely work to quiet a meowing cat in the long run, but all those actions will make your cat distrust or even dislike you. Don't give in. If your cat is used to getting what they want from meowing, they are going to meow more, and louder, when it quits working.
